• This map is not to scale, but the trip from Johnson Pass Sno-Park to Lake Aloha is about 7 miles one way.
• This map's green, blue, black rating system is relative to the locations on this map, not other ski resorts.
• Tahoe is at elevation, so even green trails can be strenuous — know your limits.
• Except for Camp Richardson, LTCC, and Kirkwood Ski Resort, every other area is on public land and is ungroomed.
• Snow may not be plentiful enough to ski at lower elevations at various times of the season.
• Parking on the side of the road is OK, but if it is snowing and/or snow removal vehicles are operating, you may be ticketed.
• Parking at Forest Service gates is OK so long as you do not block the gates.
• Except for the Sno-Parks, Camp Richardson, LTCC, and Kirkwood Ski Resort, there are no fees associated with any of the other ski areas.
• Keep dogs on a leash and pick up after them.
• Be prepared for inclement weather and carry plenty of warm clothes, food, and water.
• As with any mountain related activity, leave an itinerary of your plans with someone who will call emergency services if you do not return by your prescribed time.

LEGEND

- EASY (MOSTLY FLAT)
- MODERATE (HILLS WITH TECHNICAL ASPECTS)
- DIFFICULT (STEEP AND TECHNICAL)
- SNO-PARK (PARKING OK, BUT SNO-PARK PERMIT REQUIRED)
- FOREST SERVICE GATE (PARKING OK, BUT DON'T BLOCK THE GATE)
- XC TRAIL (APPROXIMATIONS ONLY)
- MOUNTAIN PEAK
- MOUNTAIN PASS APPROXIMATELY ONE MILE